
The transported score is cohort-relative and is not a direct measure of attention or event segmentation.